Sopra Group announces its planned acquisition of CIBF
– Compagnie d'Ingénierie Bancaire et Financière – thus reinforcing its position in Financial Services in Europe

Sopra Group has announced its planned acquisition, in cash, of 100% of the share capital of CIBF – Compagnie d'Ingénierie Bancaire et Financière. This proposal, which is subject to the outcome of the Works' Council consultation in accordance with legal provisions, should be finalised by early 2008, subject to the standard conditions precedent. The company will be consolidated in the Group's financial statements as of 1 January 2008.

CIBF has a functionally and technologically state-of-the art "Means of Payment" offering, particularly strong in the Single Euro Payments Area domain (SEPA) and proposes associated services to Financial Institutions and major industrial and commercial corporations. This year, CIBF forecasts revenue of almost 7 million euros and a double-digit percentage margin.

For Sopra Group, this acquisition forms part of its stated strategy of developing its positioning in the European financial services market, and particularly of reinforcing its Evolan™ application solution offerings covering the following areas:

- Consumer credit,
- Payments and distribution,
- Financial risks and reporting.

For CIBF, this tie-up with Sopra Group will enhance its high added-value enterprise project. This project will now be driven within a Group with much wider commercial coverage and with the capacity to optimise improvements to the current offer and secure the clientele.

The financial terms of this transaction have not been disclosed.
